DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. Figures 1 and 2 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it contains legal phraseology such as the term "comprises". Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Joo-Tai in US Patent 6286531 in view of Capshaw in US Patent 5435024. Joo-Tai teaches a collapsible tentpole (1) comprising: a series of hollow shafts (2) connected by insertion into each other (See Figure 2b); and an elastic cord (5) having two ends (6) arranged in the shafts with both said ends secured to the two endmost shafts (at 3' in Figure 1, for example). Joo-tai further teaches a sleeve tube (7) secured to the end of one shaft. Joo-tai fails to teach a groove on the end of the shaft. Capshaw appears to teach a collapsible tent pole having a series of hollow shafts (20) connected by insertion into each other (See Figure 3), wherein at least one groove (B) is arranged on at least one end of the shaft, that the groove is shaped into a smooth arcuate configuration (Best seen in Figure 3), that the end of the shaft and sleeve are of a wave configuration and the wave bottom (B) forms the groove. Capshaw teaches that a ring end of the shaft or the sleeve tube is diagonal (C), and a bottom of the diagonal ring end (B) together with the hollow interior of the shaft or the sleeve tube forms said at least one groove. Capshaw also teaches that the groove is a two-section groove with an upper section including two downwards extending arcs (A) and a lower section including two grooves (B) that extend downwards from the bottom of the upper section. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify the device of Joo-tai by adding at least one groove as taught by Capshaw to the sleeve tube in order to provide a more flexible insertion engagement for the tubes, insofar as the grooves would provide a user to press them together and create a frictional fit between the tubes.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Seo, Etheridge, Lin et al., Langlais and Lee teach collapsible tent poles.
